Address to Graduating Class

The Honorable Clayton Yeutter
United States Secretary of Agriculture

Recognition of President's Award Recipient

Conferring of Degrees and Delivery of Diplomas

President Max Lennon

Welcome to New Alumni

Deborah B. DuBose
Associate Vice President for Alumni Relations

Benediction

Frank W. Breazeale, Organist
W. Theodore Munn, Soloist
Dr. John Jefferson Porter, University Marshal

Visitors are not allowed on the floor of the coliseum for photographic or other purposes until after the commencement address. Access to the floor of the coliseum will be allowed beginning with the conferring of degrees of the doctoral candidates. Please return to your seat promptly after making photographs in order to keep distraction on the floor at a minimum.

You are requested to refrain from loud expressions of pleasure for individual graduates. Such expressions frequently detract from the recognition due the next graduate in line.

Your cooperation is respectfully but urgently requested.

HONORARY DEGREE
DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES
RUTH PATRICK

Dr. Ruth Patrick is nationally known as a scientist, educational leader and consultant to industry and government in matters of environmental preservation and ecosystem balance.

She is well-recognized in the scientific world for developing biological methods for environmental analysis, many of which have revolutionized analytical methodology for the evaluation of water quality.

In South Carolina, Dr. Patrick has established the characteristics of the natural aquatic ecosystems in the Savannah River and its tributaries from which one can predict the effects of pollution. This study was started before the Savannah River Plant was built and has continued to the present for the Du Pont Company.

She holds the Francis Boyer Chair of Limnology at the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia and is honorary chairman of the Academy's Board of Trustees. Dr. Patrick founded the Limnology Department at the Academy of Natural Sciences in 1947 and remained its chairman until 1973. As a limnologist, she deals with the physical, chemical and biological characteristics of fresh waters, especially rivers.

Dr. Patrick has written extensively on water resource management and the effects of water pollution. Industry's goal, she believes, must be to avoid waste production, or if wastes are produced, to recycle or mitigate them. Recycling also should be the aim of consumers.

She notes that, in the future, attitudes toward water resources must change. There must be a monetary incentive for both industry and consumers to save water. She suggests that a water conservation ethic must be developed by every person if we are to effectively use but not abuse our water resources.

A native of the midwest, Dr. Patrick was born in Topeka, Kansas, and grew up in Kansas City, Missouri. She earned a B.S. degree at Coker College in Hartsville and the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Virginia.

Her numerous honors and awards include the Merit Award of the Botanical Society of America (1971), the Eminent Ecologist Award of the Ecological Society of America (1972), the Philadelphia Award (1973), the John and Alice Tyler Ecology Award (1975), and the Gold Medal of the Royal Zoological Society of Antwerp, Belgium (1978).

The author of three books and more than 140 scientific publications, Dr. Patrick is a member of the Board of Trustees of the World Resources Institute, the World Wildlife Fund/Conservation Foundation, and the Environmental and Energy Study Institute, all in Washington, D.C., and the Midwest Research Institute, Kansas City, Missouri.

Through her scientific expertise and leadership in her profession, Dr. Patrick has contributed greatly to a better quality of life throughout the world. Clemson University is honored to award this honorary doctoral degree to Dr. Ruth Patrick in recognition of her distinguished achievements.

HONORARY DEGREE
DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES
CLAYTON YEUTTER

Dr. Clayton Yeutter, a native Nebraskan, who as a youngster was a high achiever in the 4-H program and later an articulate spokesman for the Cooperative Extension Service, was unanimously confirmed by the United States Senate on February 8, 1989 and publicly sworn in as the 23rd United States Secretary of Agriculture on February 16.

Dr. Yeutter, whose extensive knowledge of agriculture was gained through first-hand experience which began early in life, has an outstanding career which includes distinguished public and private-sector service in agricultural policy development, law, economics, marketing and trade.

Secretary Yeutter believes in the strengths of America's rural areas and sees a bright future for the rural communities of the country as they adapt to the changing needs of the people in these communities. He is known for his solid understanding of the interrelationships of agriculture from production to consumption and all of the factors involved. He sets a high standard of excellence for himself and his colleagues.

From July 1985 until the end of the Reagan administration, Dr. Yeutter served as U.S. Trade Representative. His previous USDA posts include assistant secretary for international affairs and commodity programs from March 1974 to June 1975, assistant secretary for marketing and consumer services from January 1973 to March 1974, and administrator of the consumer and marketing service from October 1970 to December 1971.

Dr. Yeutter's other career highlights include president and chief executive officer of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, July 1978 to June 1985; senior partner, law firm of Nelson, Harding, Yeutter & Leonard, Lincoln, Nebraska, April 1977 to June 1978; deputy U.S. Special Trade Representative, June 1975 to February 1977; director, University of Nebraska Mission in Colombia (a large agricultural technical assistance program), September 1968 to October 1970; executive assistant to the governor of Nebraska, January 1966 to September 1968; faculty member, Department of Agricultural Economics, University of Nebraska, January 1960 to January 1966; operator of a 2,500 acre farming-ranching-cattle feeding enterprise in central Nebraska, 1957-1975; and enlistee, later commissioned officer, U.S. Air Force, 1952-1957.

A native of Eustis, Nebraska, Dr. Yeutter earned three degrees at the University of Nebraska. He was graduated with high distinction in 1952 with a Bachelor of Science degree in animal husbandry. In 1963 he received his law degree, graduating cum laude and ranking first in his class. In 1966 he received his doctorate in agricultural economics and was named outstanding graduate student in the program.

Dr. Yeutter, a personable and versatile leader, is a family man who believes in the family and strong family values as essential to the fabric of the American way of life. He and his wife, Jeanne, a home economist by profession, have four children.

Clemson University holds him and his achievements in the highest regard, and it is a special privilege to honor him with the awarding of this honorary degree.

The President's Award

DR. RUSSELL G. MAWBY

Dr. Russell G. Mawby is chairman of the Board of Trustees and chief executive officer of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, among the largest private philanthropic organizations in the world. He is a member of the President's Advisory Council at Clemson University. Dr. Mawby grew up on a farm in western Michigan and has degrees in horticulture and agricultural economics from Michigan State and Purdue. He later served on the faculties of both institutions. In 1965 he joined the staff of the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan, as director of the Division of Agriculture, becoming vice president in 1967 and president and chief executive officer in 1970. He was named chairman of the Board in 1982, while continuing as chief executive officer. Established in 1930 to "help people help themselves," The Foundation has distributed more than $1 billion in support of programs in agriculture, education, and health. Grants to Clemson University have helped introduce microcomputers into Clemson's Cooperative Extension Programs, provide an agricultural literacy program to enhance awareness of agriculture and nutrition among faculty and students in nonagricultural disciplines, provide an orientation program for new faculty, and develop rural leadership in South Carolina. Clemson is honored to present this award to Russ Mawby as a symbol of our sincere thanks for all he does for this University.

The Academic Procession

The Academic procession is composed of the faculty, officers, Trustees, and honored guests of the University. Faculty enter by college and each college is preceded by its marshal, a senior faculty member, with the college baton, described under University Regalia.

Following the marshal is the college banner bearer. Each banner is a combination of colors that declare the disciplines taught in that college. These colors, which were established by the American Council on Education, are as follows:

College	Colors	Discipline
Agriculture	Maize	Agriculture
Architecture	Brown	Fine Arts
	Lilac	Architecture
Commerce & Industry	Copper	Economics
	Drab	Business
Education	Light Blue	Education
Engineering	Orange	Engineering
Forest & Recreation	Russet	Forestry
Resources	Sage Green	Recreation Education
Liberal Arts	Dark Blue	Philosophy
	White	Letters & Humanities
	Cream	Social Science
Library	Lemon	Library
Nursing	Apricot	Nursing
Sciences	Golden Yellow	Sciences
Staff	Purple & Orange	Academic Support

Collegiate faculty follow their banner in order of academic rank wearing academic costumes of medieval origin. Those who have received their degrees from institutions outside the United States wear costumes specified by the awarding institutions.

The academic costumes of faculty whose degrees are from United States' institutions are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

The bachelors' gown is simple and black with long, pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns, also black, are longer than bachelors. Older gowns have sleeves that terminate at the elbow while those since 1960 have sleeves extended to the wrist. Doctors' gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown usually of the university's colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the discipline studied and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood with bachelors' smallest, masters' larger, and doctors' quite large and of a different shape. Clemson does not award hoods to bachelors. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Secondly, the discipline is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. The colors are displayed in combinations that are drawn from heraldry. Notice that the Clemson University hood is lined with purple through which is an orange chevron (a "V"). Although many combinations are duplicated by dozens of institutions, Clemson is presently the only institution with that registered combination.

The officers, trustees, and honored guests wear academic, ecclesiastical, or military regalia as set forth by their professions. They are preceded by the University marshal. Clad in a gown of office in gold and purple, the marshal wears no hood and bears the University mace. At the ceremony's close, the faculty do not exit as a part of the recessional but are dismissed, along with students and guests, when the marshal leaves the coliseum.

The University Regalia

The University mace is the symbolic representation of the whole of Clemson University and must be present at any convocation where the University, through its delegated members, is acting officially. At any official convocation such as commencement, the University Marshal, carrying the mace, precedes the President into the assembly. The mace rests before the President's chair or speaker's stand throughout the ceremony, and its removal from the assembly at the close of a convocation is symbolic of the official withdrawal of the University and, thus, the close of the proceedings.

The decorative design of Clemson's mace is derived from the ceremonial maces carried by heads of state and church in the Middle Ages. Its basic club-like shape, however, is much more ancient, probably going back to man's pre-history. It is made of walnut wood and silver, with the seal of the University in gold and the University colors represented by insets of cornelian (orange) and amethyst (purple). Amethyst is also the state stone of South Carolina.

The Presidential chain and seal is symbolic of the authority vested in the office of president by the governing body of the University. Only the University President may wear it, and while wearing it he speaks for the whole body of the institution. Clemson's chain and seal are made of silver and gold, and cornelian and amethyst.

The batons of the college marshals also descend from medieval "staves of office" which were carried by the senior members of departments of state or church. They display the seal of the University and the symbolic color of the discipline to which the college belongs. Clemson's batons are made of walnut wood and silver with the various disciplines inset with enamel.

The University regalia were designed and executed by Mr. Robert Ebendorf. Mr. Ebendorf is twice winner of the Tiffany Award and one of the most acclaimed goldsmiths of our era. The enamel plaques for the batons were executed by the late Professor Marshall C. Bell, and the lapidary work was executed by the late Mr. C. C. Wilson of Clemson University.

Coat of Arms

Designed by Clemson University graphic artist, Connie Floyd, the coat of arms represents the historic three-fold mission of this institution: teaching, research and service.

Pictured on the cover, the coat of arms is divided into three parts. The bottom contains a series of open books representing the concept of teaching as the basis of the land-grant university. The white of the books and the purple of the background designate the teaching mission of the University as it is achieved through undergraduate and graduate instruction.

The upper portion of the shield contains two sets of calipers and wheat sheaves illustrating the measurement system for research, as well as Clemson's tradition in agriculture and Extension. The three symbols — the books, calipers and wheat sheaves — also represent the humanities, technology and science.

The entire shield is joined by a small orange center shield bearing a white tiger mask symbolizing the abiding spirit of Clemson.

The crest is a gold palmetto tree, which emphasizes Thomas Green Clemson's desire that Clemson become "the people's university" for South Carolinians. It rises from a band of purple, orange, white and gold. The outer pair of colors, purple and gold, are the official colors of the University; the inner pair, orange and white, are Clemson's student colors.

They have maintained a minimum GPR overall of 3.40. They appear in the line of march with an honors medallion on an orange and purple ribbon.

Awards

NORRIS MEDAL

First awarded at Clemson University in 1908, the Norris Medal was established under the terms of the will of the Honorable D. K. Norris, a life trustee of this institution. The medal is given each year to the graduating student, who, on the basis of exceptional scholastic achievement and leadership ability, is judged by the University Scholarships and Awards Committee to be the best all-around student.

All winners of the Norris Medal have their names affixed to a bronze plaque mounted at the front entrance of Sikes Hall.

WINNER OF THE NORRIS MEDAL FOR 1989

CHARLES EDWARD HILL
Abbeville

FACULTY SCHOLARSHIP AWARD

Established at Clemson University in 1959, this award is made annually by the faculty of Clemson University to the member of the graduating class who has the highest scholastic achievement. All graduates who have completed the requirements for the bachelor's degree since the last commencement exercise and who have completed at Clemson at least 75 percent of the work required for graduation shall be eligible for consideration.

All winners of the Faculty Scholarship Award have their names affixed to a bronze plaque mounted in the front entrance of Sikes Hall.

WINNERS OF THE FACULTY SCHOLARSHIP AWARD FOR 1989

ALUMNI MASTER TEACHER AWARD

This award is presented by the Clemson Alumni Association for distinguished achievements in classroom teaching. The faculty recipient is selected by the Student Alumni Council from nominations submitted by students. A bronze plaque is presented permanently to the recipient and the award carries with it a stipend of fifteen hundred dollars.

WINNER OF THE ALUMNI MASTER TEACHER AWARD FOR 1989

PATRICIA CONNOR-GREENE

HONORS MEDALLION

Each graduate having earned Senior Departmental Honors will be wearing the Calhoun College Honors Medallion on an orange and purple ribbon. This medallion has been made possible by an Honors endowment established by Mrs. Kathryn C. Inabinet of Columbia, South Carolina, to honor the memory of her husband and Clemson graduate, the late B. C. Inabinet.

Historical Statement

Clemson University is named for Thomas Green Clemson (1807-1888), who left the bulk of his estate to the State of South Carolina for the founding of the institution.

Thomas Clemson was born in Philadelphia in 1807 and educated at the Royal School of Mines in Paris (1828-1832). His early profession was that of a mining engineer; but circumstances diverted his interests into politics and the life of a southern planter, and he soon became an enthusiastic advocate of scientific agriculture. He had a career as a diplomat (charge d'affairs to Belgium, 1844-1852) and served as the first Superintendent of Agricultural Affairs in Washington (1860). As a scientist he published numerous articles in the fields of mining, chemistry, and agriculture. His varied activities included his assistance in the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College, his support of the Morrill Act, his leadership in South Carolina after the Civil War, and his part in founding Clemson University.

Thomas Clemson was the son-in-law of South Carolina's John C. Calhoun, a political figure of national importance during the first half of the nineteenth century. Mr. Calhoun's home, Fort Hill, is preserved on the Clemson Campus as a national shrine.

The academic program at Clemson College began in 1893 with an enrollment of 446. The first "college prospectus" announced only two four-year curricula, supplemented by two two-year preparatory courses. Today the University has ten major academic units. These are the College of Agricultural Sciences, the College of Architecture, the College of Commerce and Industry, the College of Education, the College of Engineering, the College of Forest and Recreation Resources, the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Nursing, the College of Sciences, and the Graduate School.

The institution is an accredited member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; various curricula are accredited by the National Architectural Accrediting Board, National League for Nursing, Society of American Foresters, American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business, Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, and National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Clemson is a land-grant institution. As such, it is engaged not only in its primary academic program, but does extensive research at the main campus and at five agricultural experiment stations located in the State. The University is also heavily committed to a varied program of public service, including the work of agricultural extension which has professional personnel located in each of the State's counties.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

A. C. Corcoran, '19

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme always.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might,
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of great conquests,
For our past is grand,
And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale.
Here the Tiger lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive;
And our alma mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.
